Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, May 23, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

Has our discourse evolved? In appearance, no – the reality is otherwise. Some of our brothers and sisters can sense the vibratory difference; it does not escape them. They read the messages more inwardly, more in tune with our energies, and there they can glimpse the richness of their content beyond a simple reading. Time does its work; everything is being put into place for the future, when evolution will define these life cycles to come. We are preparing them. It is up to each and every one to realise it and to act accordingly for their personal journey.

May all our aspirants be enlightened and strengthened.
