Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, August 9, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

Nothing is perfect in this world; it is necessary to ensure all that an incarnation has in store – on all levels. Taking a spiritual journey allows one an interlude to set aside the time and space to move to another level of consciousness more able to provide relief. It is a long-lasting alleviation, one that prepares a future more in line with the yearning of the soul. The goal lies there: to progress, against all odds.

Life never ceases to disturb the human being, who grapples with the material plane and all the disruptive elements associated with it. Interiorising oneself, uniting with the Divine in every aspect proposed by this path, lightens each one's burden, even if not everything can be avoided. Certain experiences are necessary for humans to be able to grow, to understand where the essential lies, along with the purpose of all things. It takes time, from life to life, to realise what an incarnation really represents in the opportunity it offers to divest oneself of what is unnecessary. There is so much to do in this regard; when human beings truly realise how time is running out for them, and the fact that awakening is there, all hopes are permitted. Following a spiritual way such as this opens up opportunities that not many people have. Blessed are those who are truly engaged and acting as best they can. A sincere call is always heard, whatever the outcome may be.

The best to all under the guidance of the living Master and the entire hierarchy.
