Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, August 15, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

Once again, the Great and Revered Lalaji has shown himself to you in the most beautiful manner. The greatest love stories endure over time, forever leaving their mark on hearts. Such days are moments of grace for the Mission. May our abhyasis not lose sight of them; they are unique. Masters of this stature become incarnate to help the human race on its sometimes very difficult trajectory. Referring to these Great Beings is a sign of wisdom and also of humility; recognising one's smallness denotes genuine potential.

Our way attracts hearts in need. When the thirst for the Divine manifests within them, they choose the path that suits them, sometimes after several other attempts. When the soul chooses its Master with determination, the path appears before it. Progress is made according to the demand; when the demand is great, it is surely heard. We can see that many hearts, fervent and eager to go further, are opening to the quintessence of the Spirit. They attract our attention and the grace that befits such situations. The "chorus" of Sahaj Marg Masters rejoices in such circumstances where love is further manifested in our Mission. May all be carried and blessed.
