Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, September 28, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

Come and join us in this Eden of peace and love where you excel in tuning in to us. The path of life is complicated indeed, more so for some people than for others; no one really chooses their own path of life, whatever their level of evolution. Even the most highly evolved beings are not spared. Examples abound, and this is inevitable. Following a spiritual path allows one to put things into perspective and accept things as they are. In this, surrender is invaluable; without this deep-rooted approach, trials would be even more difficult to bear. Nothing is useless – which is somewhat comforting. Practice helps in any case, as long as it is done with enough confidence and real motivation.

Love is powerful; it embellishes the most inconsequential matters. It can transform one's life when it is deeply felt and when it goes beyond the material plane, captivating the soul. To engage in a spiritual path is to learn how to channel this subtle energy capable of working wonders. Everything is possible here below when it is desired by the higher powers. The reality of these words has been sufficiently proven. What must be will be – in everything, and everywhere in this world. This is how it is. Surrendering to the divine power is the best option. Anything becomes possible when it is sufficiently motivated by love. May all advance with faith in their future, carried by the power of the living Master, who is highly supported by a very active, effective hierarchy. May all be blessed.
