Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, October 6, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

The divine energy manifests wherever and whenever it sees fit. As regards these messages, they have an importance that our abhyasis cannot imagine today. So has it always been; only time prepares people's minds for what will come and establish itself here below. Seemingly simple comments can hold a treasure for the heart that receives them with love and surrender to the inner Master. The framework of the Sahaj Marg Mission includes this principle: the living Master is the great organiser who promotes and enables substantial progress for all those who participate in this Great Work, one might say.

Our Mission will defy time; it is being built gradually and will become even more precise in the future, when humans will find themselves reduced to the essentials after the great upheavals that are brewing for this Earth. From time immemorial, the refuge of faith has always been there when needed, especially in special circumstances when human beings have been left behind in their understanding of life. Nothing is certain – ever – and this is to be borne in mind. The immutable lies at the very core of one's being and deserves a very special approach. This heavenly good is a treasure of the highest importance and warrants special attention. Blessed are those who understand this and act accordingly. All our abhyasis have that potential, which unfolds under our ceaseless action. The best to all.
