Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, December 7, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

Every day is an opportunity for humans to grow by trying to understand the true meaning of life and what determines the unceasing cycle of reincarnations. No path is easy. Each of these journeys is adapted to the evolution of the being concerned. Many lessons must be learned in order to perfect a behaviour, a way of being and working on one's weak points. It is not easy to understand all these reasons; human beings do not necessarily see the purpose of things. For the majority of them, this vision is limited to their own person, and the reality of life eludes them. A spiritual way like ours helps in this regard. Still, one must want it and act with determination – this is what we wish for all.
