This long history of messages will have no end; it will live on in fervent hearts and nourish them according to their call. These writings have already provided great help and will continue to do so, far into the future. Their action will carry on; they are so very blessed and wanted by the high hierarchy in charge of our spiritual path. In certain circumstances, human barriers are of little consequence; nothing can impede this teaching's progress in human hearts. Our entire Mission benefits from it. God's ways are unfathomable and human beings must abide by His laws. How can anyone within our Mission minimise the growing impact these writings have on many of our aspirants? It can take so much time for a principle to be accepted – this one is a precious asset for all hearts aspiring for the Divine.

Human evolution moves very slowly; we are working for the best, and with full knowledge. One day, the divine purpose will be achieved, as has often been said. Our ceaseless action is geared in that direction for the good of all our brothers and sisters who trust us. Without this trust, how can one respect the action of the living Master and truly progress! Faith and surrender are decisive in this process; forces must come together at all levels to obtain the best. Do our most fervent abhyasis truly weigh the impact of such an intentional and divinely sustained action? May all become truly aware of the opportunity offered to them and not neglect it. May they be enlightened and blessed.
