Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, February 19, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

All these years of contact have made it possible to capture these messages; they are a precious asset for our Mission – let us emphasise this once again – and they will remain an appreciable teaching for it. The future will lead humans to a more accurate view of phenomena and of a reality that has so far eluded them, as they lack the elements that would convince them. Many upheavals will occur in the future, allowing humans to advance in knowledge. Everything happens so slowly here below; we cannot go beyond the rules constituting the current way of life and degree of open-mindedness. Centuries of obscurantism have limited this world to a narrow understanding of the principles that are essential to life as a whole. Minds are opening slowly, but the process is underway to lead humans to a reality that is totally beyond them today. Helping minds evolve, leading them to a more accurate view of things, without taboos, would allow a significant step forward. We do not mean to shock, but only to sensitise our abhyasis to the fact that humanity still has much to discover about its own reality. Human beings travel a path they do not really know. These important indications concerning their destiny are revealed to them gradually, as they grow older on a path that is their own yet not really known to them. There lies the mystery of life, and one must comply with it by respecting its laws. Striving to do one's best in all things, for the sake of others and oneself, is a sign of wisdom. Everyone is helped in accordance with their call and their state of surrender to the higher powers and to the Master they have chosen to help them progress. That is how it goes.
