Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, February 26, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

Do not lose heart, my daughter, this world is what it is. Moreover, it will have to go through a difficult stage in order to reach a major milestone. Nothing is easy for anyone here below. Where would the real motivation of an incarnation lie if this process did not lead to a specific and decisive goal for humanity? Much time is necessary for divine plans to fall into place; everything moves so slowly in this world. Even we have to adapt to this pace that is not ours. This concept of time is illusory, like everything here below, but we need to take it into account in its least detail. So many aspects, so many laws governing life on Earth, are ignored by humans. Some believe they know everything, but their knowledge is still in its infancy. It will take a great deal of time and many upheavals for a reality that is accessible to the greatest number to finally emerge. Many, many changes will occur here below, and they will completely disrupt the way of life for incarnate beings. To work for one's own evolution, to advance spiritually, is wise and saves precious time. Everything is rigorously accounted for; no effort is lost. Good and evil counterbalance each other in certain beings, and this can alleviate the very rigorous effects of karma. The process proposed in our way leads to the best results, when it is followed with sincerity and real commitment. Everything is implemented to promote the advancement of each individual; the heart is rich in treasures, though one must be able to discover them and bring them to light. Thus is the soul delighted, and it accesses the best, by the grace of the Masters and the powers that carry them so that they can work for the true good.

Blessings to all.
