Wednesday, May 24, 2000 - 10:00 a.m.

I am here, I do not abandon you. It is a difficult period, but you will recover your balance and we will be able to resume our progress together. Your heart is intact; it is not affected by the storms any more. Trust us; all is not finished, far from it.

"As soon as you feel better, we will resume where we left off in our work and you will be able to again conjugate the verb 'to love'. Rest reassured, I did not drain you of energy. I bless you."

Babuji