Don't complain about going through such tests; it is the law of evolution which thus manifests itself. It is compulsory and the doctors do not understand necessarily the implications of this work and they interpret them wrongly. That does not matter; you are making progress and your progress delights us. You will soon foresee your inner light and that will reassure you. You will see that nothing is in vain.

"You should be in a state of utmost acceptance, more and more united with the Divine and detached, as much as possible, from material aspects. We accompany you in all these events, even if that is not obvious. You should be in joy of heart, in spite of everything, with our blessings. You can call this series: Epilogue."
