Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, April 2, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

Human beings are as they are, and they do their best in the face of life's difficulties. Everyone has their potential. As a rule, nothing is simple. There is no such thing as a life without trials – they are formative in many respects. No human being is spared; sooner or later reality manifests itself and produces what is needed. Trying to understand the laws of life allows one to move forward properly through these many twists and turns, where problems arise unexpectedly. Nothing is simple – ever. The Great Beings themselves are not immune to the baseness of this world; all are subject to the same laws. Within oneself lies the answer to all these evils that are plaguing humankind and not about to stop.

Spiritual openness makes it possible to put things into perspective, to understand this need for humans to learn lessons, to be trained and to advance in the understanding of life's phenomena and subtleties. Each incarnation enables one to move forward and to accept that one has to suffer and struggle in order to live and learn . It is not easy to embrace this reality; advancing on a spiritual path helps one put things into perspective and understand all these principles, decisive in human evolution.

We have no miracle cure to propose, but rather a way of moving forward, towards what is actually the most important aspect: the elevation of the soul, a human being's essential characteristic. The soul is immortal, so it is deserving of one's efforts to understand, as best one can, what needs to be done to achieve the best results. Reaching the goal is the apotheosis. One day the divine goal is attained, and then another journey begins, one that is heavenly.

Blessings to all.
