Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, June 15, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

Regain serenity in this sacred place where the best is accomplished. Here, our energies take over, and surrender creates this state favourable to receiving these messages. Every day this ritual is thus renewed wherein love is the principal element; it attracts and fosters our action.

These numerous writings constitute a true asset for our Mission, and time will accentuate their effects on fervent hearts. The future will lift egotistic resistances that have no place in this system. The human being is not always easy to read, but so it is, one might say. Seeing only the good and the beautiful lifts the soul beyond materiality and shadowy areas, leading to a more receptive and serene state. Following a spiritual path helps one come to terms with hardship; this commitment makes it easier to understand why trials exist and must be accepted.

Nothing is ever simple – ever; true wisdom is built on experiences of all kinds and generates the detachment needed for a true approach, one that elevates and beautifies the soul. Devoting the necessary space to such a work is not always easy in a busy life; to do so demonstrates a willingness and real need to move forward. When the soul is in need, nothing can stop it; sooner or later, favourable elements fall into place to satisfy it. A sincere appeal is always heard, how could it be otherwise? All is vain here below – but not a path such as this. Destiny exists and knows where it is going. This is not fully realised by human beings, who believe they manage it as they please. Sooner or later the divine plans come to fruition and humans follow their path; this is how it is, shall we say. And when they commit to a spiritual way, all hopes are permitted.
