Monday, June 5, 2000 - 10:00 a.m.

A new stage of your life begins. Get ready for some changes. You are going to recover active energy. Your human qualities are intact. You still have a lot to do, whatever you may think about it. We have not brought you to this higher level of perception for the sake of letting that talent remain unused. Life still has surprises for you. Whether my son comes toward you or not, the communication between you is established; that is the main thing. Mountains don't meet, but they exist and have their respective importance. Some are more attractive than others, although each plays its own role. Keep on progressing and we will continue our way together. Don't go beyond your physical capacities; regain strength and everything will be all right. Try finally to be reasonable. These collections of messages testify to a part of your activity in our service. They exist; you cannot doubt about it, as you usually do. Remain surrendered, flexible to any change. This is how to act to really be at service, never forget it."

The Medium: "Babuji, it is so good to meet you again. My heart was missing you."

"Mine did not miss you, since you did not leave it."

Babuji