Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, June 18, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

All these beautiful testimonies coming from many countries show you just how great is the impact of these messages. The future will give them a level of importance that cannot be imagined today. May all these fervent hearts be blessed; one day the divine goal will be reached – such is the main objective.

Our action goes well beyond what can be perceived. It operates at different levels of consciousness where very subtle work takes place. As we have mentioned before, such work is carried on beyond this world – a fact that is unprecedented and deserves a moment's pause. Loved ones who leave this Earth, particularly abhyasis, often continue with increased ardour what they started here below. Life is one and indivisible; committing to a spiritual way like ours saves a lot of time. The purpose of all life is to grow in wisdom, to become sufficiently refined to access higher planes. We seek the best for all our brothers and sisters committed to this redeeming path where, day by day, that which must happen is achieved.

We do not repeat ourselves in vain; human beings need many reminders in order to truly integrate some of our remarks, which are not part of their daily lives but perhaps one day will be. Leaving room within oneself for what is essential is a wise and decisive action for the enhancement of the being. In this, perseverance is a determining factor, and our support is unwavering. Perceivable or not, this support is there, you can be sure. We cannot transform a life on the material level, but spiritually the best can happen. Rest assured that courage and perseverance lift you up to our hearts. Thus is accomplished what must be – namely, excellence.

May all be strengthened and enlightened.
