Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, June 28, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

So much has been said over the past years, and yet we could go on for a long time, given the complexity of life and the diversity of humankind. Our comments have this particular feature: they are understood throughout the world, wherever they are called for, and they touch hearts that are sensitive to their vibration. A precious thread connects the hearts of our aspirants; the vibration of this egregore is amplified in proportion to the number of our committed aspirants, wherever they are on Earth.

We do not want to confuse anyone with these comments. We only wish to emphasise the specific energy that is being established on Earth in relation to the work that has been accomplished over many years and that will continue to grow. May all become aware of this uncommon power that is unfolding and that will not stop acting for the good of all, discreetly yet more effectively than it would seem. Life has many mysteries, and our system finds its place among the major assets capable of helping all our abhyasis, wherever they may be on this Earth.

Nothing is hidden from us; we see people's hearts, their potential, and we go to the essential, which is not necessarily what aspirants expect when it comes to purely material matters. On this level, what remains of an incarnation? Nothing, or precious little. The profound transformation of the seeker is decisive, and we are working towards it as appropriate. A day will come when all our abhyasis will realise how far they have come and commit themselves even more, including on other levels of consciousness. We do not want to shake people's certainties – but committing to the path of Sahaj Marg is promising beyond measure; there lies the goal.

Our unceasing blessings.
