Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, August 3, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

All these beautiful responses to the messages put a balm on your heart; we are happy to see the progression of these messages in the hearts of our fervent abhyasis. A magic chain is thus established among all those who are nourished by them on a daily basis. A time will come when this action will be increased tenfold relative to the ambient energy in this world. Subtler vibrations will prevail here below; a vast movement will be set in motion, bringing about many changes for the good of this humanity currently in complete disarray.

Numerous vibratory disturbances are creating a destabilising environment for human energies, among others. We are particularly concerned with human energies. Practice cannot remedy everything, but it establishes a sort of protection in the energetic structure, which is important for the balance of all. So-called progress does not only bring advantages, it also destabilises a delicate and necessary balance in everyone's life. Our brothers and sisters have this refuge, the practice. It does not protect one from everything, but it certainly helps to a significant degree in everyday life. Nothing is easy for anyone; here below, nobody escapes the law of karma. Getting involved in a spiritual process like this one is, in its own way, a protection. Although hardly visible, our help is there – discreet and yet active in its own way. At the cusp of two worlds, that which must be done is carried out, in preparing as best as possible the beings who trust us.

May all be strengthened in faith in their Master, in this Mission, whose effects are out of the ordinary. We wish the best to everyone, with much love and attention towards all.
