Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, August 7, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

These messages will be appreciated more and more – you know it, and this initiative demonstrates it once again. You give to the limit of your strength; this energy that carries you is felt here where we can express ourselves in this way. It takes some time for the best to be expressed on Earth in this period of history so very troubled vibrationally.

Human beings for the most part are lacking real bearings; they go adrift when nothing essential holds them back and makes them aware of the higher reality. Our abhyasis have this privilege: they are followed at this level, and these writings, among others, provide them with significant guidance. Nothing is easy in this world where trials abound. Sooner or later trials do come, and no one can get around them.

The distinctive purpose of an incarnation is to progress, through all sorts of experiences meant to enlighten and strengthen the human being in the face of adversity. Everyone has their own story, but at a certain level all resemble one another; globally, we are helping our brothers and sisters in their personal journeys. Nothing is perfect here below, but Sahaj Marg is active, and with time it gives us certainty. All is well for our Mission as a whole.

May all our aspirants consider the present difficulties of our beloved great son, who is courageously facing up to things and fulfilling his role in the best possible way, with all the help we can give him. Confidence, perseverance and determination bring about real success. Everyone can make it their own and thus benefit from effective help in the area that is of interest to us.

Special blessings to all fervent hearts.
