Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, August 24, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

Everything is counted, as you know, and human shortcomings are inescapable. Even in a spiritual Mission like ours where the best is achieved, beings who are driven by an excessive ego come forward, believing everything is permissible. In its own manner, time resolves certain matters for the good of all. Seeing only the positive is a strength, a major asset; it creates what must be grand and beautiful for this path of the heart, whose effects will grow over time, and for the benefit of all. The Mission is a diverse whole, as is the world in every respect. It is a divine gift offered to today's humans, a valuable spiritual guidance amid this current type of chaos, where, for many people, real values are losing their deep meaning.

It will definitely take every sort of upheaval for humans to return to their senses. Modernity does not resolve all aspects of life; in a sense, it makes life more complicated. Not neglecting what is essential is a sign of wisdom. Our brothers and sisters have made this heartfelt choice and most of them adhere to it. Many are personally committed and thus contribute to the expansion of this Mission, blessed for many reasons.

May each of our brothers and sisters be more and more committed to this process that allows them a satisfactory spiritual advancement, carried by the effects of grace – such grace as is attracted by a sincere heart.

Blessings to all.
