Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, August 26, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

These messages have won many fervent hearts, open to the energy they convey. The perceptions at this level enable hearts to feel what goes far beyond appearances, touching upon sensitive points. In the future, this kind of asset will be a reference for our Mission. These messages result from a deliberate choice made by the entire Hierarchy and, as such, should be considered important. The incarnate Master has had the great wisdom to view them in this way. Our dearest son has invested so much in this Mission for such a long time. He has always given the maximum, the best of himself. He is great, highly respected and admired by all of us here for his courage and lucidity in the midst of unsettling human turmoil, at times in situations where the truth can prove difficult to discern. In many circumstances your Master has demonstrated this wisdom, and it will remain in the future an example for all.

Nothing is ever simple in this world, including in this Mission, where at the material level so many aspects contradict each other. It becomes necessary, then, to make the right choices. Unanimity can never be achieved; it is not possible. Such is life on this Earth, where so many positive and negative elements confront each other daily. Our path is not spared; let each do their best according to their heart, but respecting the choices we have deemed best for this rapidly expanding Mission whose most important aspects are beyond the grasp of today's ordinary mortals. May all our abhyasis consider that we are doing what is best for their own good. They all have our very special blessings.
