Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, December 25, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

This long journey of messages will remain an important reference in our Mission, much more so than it seems today; time always gives events their rightful place. The Sahaj Marg Mission will remain in the annals of time as planned. It will have to adapt in many ways and set up an organisational structure suited to the changes in the world. We are not there yet; let us move ahead day by day, supporting our dearest Kamlesh, the successor now in place to continue transmitting what must be.

It is said that unity makes strength. Behaviours will have to adapt to circumstances. We expect the best from all our abhyasis; this Mission must grow, move forward and be strengthened, not only in its foundations on the material plane, but also spiritually, in the heart of each of our dear abhyasis.

There is still a long way to go, but unity and strength will allow this Mission to continue to grow and conquer a sacred space never reached before. We will always support the Master chosen by the Hierarchy. The choice was not made in vain – his potential will allow him to adjust to events and always make the appropriate decisions, those that are called for, even if they might be challenged. We are by his side in our own way. Nothing is ever easy on Earth; going against our choices is a serious matter. We expect the best from all our aspirants. Wherever they are, a real bond unites them and strengthens a unique egregore characterising this exceptional way of the heart – a way that will reveal itself more and more in all its subtlety and power of action. Everything in its own time. Solid foundations have been laid on which the future will build a sacred mountain for the good of humanity. So it is!
