Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, February 16, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

There is always something to say. Repetitions are useful, and therein lies the very principle of life in all its expressions. Everything evolves and renews itself by repeating itself. Each day a way of life is reproduced; in all realms, it is so. On their spiritual journey, human beings also need to act in this manner. Their constancy in action is productive; embarking on a spiritual path implies the following of rituals; they are necessary to all life. Here, the choice is decisive in one's advancement; practice saves valuable time. Everything is counted and appreciated at its true value, no effort is in vain. What is done in our Mission contributes to the elevation of the soul – is that not what is most important. Except for that, all is vain. Destiny does its work, it weaves the cloth in its own manner, and in all this humans are nothing much. They must adapt to circumstances. It is rather reassuring to have this advantage, the benefits of an exceptional spiritual process that discreetly yet effectively produces satisfactory results.

Each incarnation is a page in the grand book of life; it holds in store all kinds of surprises that give it charm despite some unpleasant episodes. Thus is built what must be. Spirituality is the saviour, so has it always been since the dawn of time. The human being is so small before the divine power – it is best to serve it and adjust oneself to its principles so as to evolve and save precious time on this initiatory journey.

Blessings to all, for the best.
