Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, March 5, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

These moments of contact are unique for your heart; a special vibration accompanies these messages, we have said it often enough. Many of our brothers and sisters truly appreciate them. They know how to extract their quintessence for their greater benefit. Is this not the purpose of this long and uncommon saga! It will leave its mark on our Mission very far into time, as other sacred texts still do after so many centuries. Ours do not claim to resemble those, but they too are a very special blessing granted to this Sahaj Marg Mission. Adapted to current times, this Mission will accentuate its action over the years to increasingly respond to the calls of beings in need. There is no lack of them, though they do not yet understand this real lack within themselves of an approach such as this; it responds to the life of today, and that of tomorrow even more so.

Everything will change in the future. Most of the men and women of this time rely on false values that do not make them advance, quite the contrary. Such an approach responds to a call of the heart, one that is not insignificant – it clarifies the soul's aspirations to rise. This is not facilitated by material life in its rigour and its effects which are often harmful for the overall equilibrium. The human body is constantly undergoing such pervasive negativity, generated by 'progress' – or so it is called, though it is negative in many respects. Such is this world in the current state of affairs. It is not our habit to dwell on these considerations, but we see here better than elsewhere what is happening on Earth, without being able to intervene at that level. May a better world, on all levels, be established here below.

Blessings to all.
