Saturday, June 17, 2000 - 10:00 a.m.

It is true that I feel a particular tenderness for you, which makes me more understanding towards you than Masters whom you refer to, and who have stricter contacts with you. Do not linger over this aspect of things; they also do appreciate you. When they were incarnate, they were not always easy to access. Each of them has his way of behaving; that however doesn't change anything regarding their spiritual greatness. Your present Master does not easily let people go near him. It is his means to protect himself. He cannot communicate with each of you; the purpose of his mission does not reside in this kind of contact. He is a special being who carries out an enormous work. He must save himself and keep his energies to accomplish that for which he came, by extending his action to the multitude, which benefits each and every one of you. Be persuaded that you receive according to your aspiration and the openness of your heart. We wonder at his powerful work capacities. He satisfies us beyond our expectations. Our confidence was appropriately placed since the beginning; he always proves it further to us. Love him; he returns it well to you."

Babuji