Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, March 21, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

You carry that love within yourself; it is a precious medium that transforms a life. What would life be without it – a long series of trials with no other prospects. This kind of journey is a divine gift, and service remembers it. To devote oneself to a beautiful spiritual path is a blessing that brings many true joys, those that last and are not illusory as they are on Earth. Indeed, these messages have their raison d'être, and time will confirm these statements.

All of us here are working for the benefit of this world. The Sahaj Marg Mission is a sacred enclosure, one of particular interest to us. Each of our brothers and sisters has a special place in it; no one is ignored, even if we have no magic wand to transform trials. So must it be for everyone; the laws of karma are inescapable and necessary for human evolution. Our main action takes place at another level, very significant in its effects that cannot be evaluated in human terms.

Long is the path of progress. All that lives in this world is rigorously subjected to this evolutionary principle and its rules. Our action runs parallel to all this and conforms to divine laws with a specificity that is recognised and appreciated. Everything is geared towards what is good for our aspirants. Not all are aware of it, but what is essential is acquired. Personal commitment is important, as we have said often enough. We cannot force anything, but only respond according to the call. In this way the best can be accomplished for the good of all.
