Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, March 27, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

The beings of light, as you call them, are closer to all of you than you can imagine. In the fold of a spiritual path like Sahaj Marg, they would like to enjoy a climate of peace and complete harmony. Unfortunately, human failings are there and inevitably create some turbulence. Good intentions are beneficial; we appreciate them, and even more do we appreciate acts capable of bringing about the best for this Mission as a whole. It is expanding worldwide and adjusting to the lifestyles and ways of thinking in various countries. The essential thing is there, and it fully benefits one and all. Each abhyasi means well, and this is what matters. The goal to be achieved is the challenge for everyone and the results are by and large satisfactory, according to our expectations.

The major gatherings that are coming up are very promising – grace will be pouring down, one might say; it is invoked in these auspicious circumstances and we respond with all the love possible. We encourage such events that bring together and further unite our abhyasis in an uncommon impulse of fervour. Doesn't everything have its raison d'être! Action and meditation complement each other to achieve the best. This way of Sahaj Marg is full of resources, some of which are yet to be discovered. Time does its work; it's up to everyone to invest themselves as best they can for their own sake, as well as that of the multitude. Blessed be this way, so very well supported by the higher powers.

To all, the best.
