Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, April 1, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

Here we have the privilege of going far beyond the world of matter, allowing us to see the Mission's trajectory in time and in the places that will characterise it. All spiritual paths of the past have built structures on this Earth that strike the imagination of humans. This is required and essential to truly establish in this world what would otherwise remain impalpable and less representative of a current of thought – even if it can by its action alone defy time and help humanity beyond human perception. The past sufficiently demonstrates this aspect of things; the action of the Sahaj Marg Mission is expanding on this Earth as planned long ago.

Is it not said that what is to be shall be? As far as possible, everything is done in the Mission to help our committed brothers and sisters go ever further, and to help them grow. All our actions go in this direction, even if they are not always understood as they should be. It does not matter; time always clarifies things when they are geared towards the good. Very attentive are we to this Mission, which is truly taking off to reach the highest level. Endowed it is with a competent Master who can definitively establish on this Earth the sacred edifice that this way of the heart represents. We can only support him strongly and in every respect; nothing is ever simple, but what is done for the good can only prevail and defy time, since it is supported by the sacred elite that inspires the different movements essential to its development.

Blessings to all.
