Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, April 19, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

Yes, this day* is special; it has marked the journey of a soul aspiring above all to join the divine source. This step is important, and one should not neglect it as human beings generally do. Life and death lose their mysteries; they cannot be revealed in the current era, as they would bring too much confusion. Human beings must grow and advance in knowledge, the knowledge that determines all aspects of life in this world – and that is not for tomorrow. An important work remains to be done; this world is subject to so much negativity. Humans in general care little about all the laws that are beyond their understanding; they have quite enough to do in taking on their daily existence. Wise beings who are open to spirituality are gradually gaining access to the foundations of knowledge, the knowledge that determines all life and the fundamental aspects of reincarnation for every living being.

A spiritual approach is essential for the real advancement of a soul that is called – on its journey towards the eternal – to experience all the situations that can facilitate its progress. This fact is decisive for the continuation of this journey, which is uncommon and unrecognized by humans. True reality is not within their reach, but it can be approached by following the path, namely, that of the heart, with this very special work proposed in our Mission. Here valuable prospects are opening up, you can be sure. May all achieve the best.

Special blessings.
