Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, April 26, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

Let this ardent flame burn in you – it is your motivation here below. Isn't love at that level decisive in any such action! Following a spiritual path entails commitment on the material plane, but not only that. Love, such love, is what is most important. It drives the inner being in a process that meets its deepest aspirations; these can take one very far when properly recognised and honoured.

It often takes time to understand, to truly understand oneself and to manage to let go of the superfluous, which indeed hampers one's evolution. The seeker must make choices; when wisdom manages to prevail, everything becomes clearer. There is no time to waste, a lifetime is short. The opportunity is offered to everyone to progress, to broaden their knowledge, and above all to find their way – the one in which their deep spiritual aspirations can flourish and fulfil a heart in need.

For many fervent beings, this Sahaj Marg Mission meets such expectations. The way of the heart, is it not wisdom itself! In all simplicity it achieves what is best, and everyone receives according to their yearning. In this, love is the redeeming energy. It accomplishes what does not seem possible, and yet we can see the results in our abhyasis: they are advancing according to their wishes and commitment. Everything is possible; one has to believe in it and, above all, to want it.

Blessings to all.
