Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, May 3, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

Dive into this ocean of love where your heart longs to delight, far from the heaviness of this world. Within you lies this Eden, this place where all but the essential can be forgotten. This discourse is not new, and yet it manages to touch the sensitive point every time. Repetition is necessary. It is the very foundation of life on this Earth – we have said it often enough.

Nothing is ever simple, and yet magnificent achievements exist here below. Through relentless work, some human beings have built sacred edifices whose glory defies time. This high place so admired in India [the Taj Mahal] is also the fruit of an uncommon love. You compare what is being built in Hyderabad with this edifice whose beauty has always fascinated people. This place [in Hyderabad] will indeed be highly charged, and it will meet the expectations of all – we will see to it. Our Mission has not finished astonishing; it is expanding over time and will one day reach the pinnacle of its action.

Humans will increasingly need to rely on faith, which has been abandoned by many people today. One day they will return to more wisdom and clear-sightedness in the face of the Eternal. The current era is devastating with respect to an equilibrium that is desirable for the wellbeing of all. The quest for the Divine remains the major objective, the only true good for any individual here below. Perseverance and faith succeed in conquering this sacred space for loving hearts. A call is always heard.

Endless blessings.
