Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, May 9, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

Relax, be at peace. For our part, we know what you are going through – the rest does not matter. Altogether these writings represent a priceless jewel. They help many of our brothers and sisters, and that touches us, you can be sure. The new Master of the Mission is getting his bearings in a masterly fashion, and we fully support him in his action. It is appropriate, here as elsewhere, to face up to current times as well as the future in the making. New measures will have to be taken, and will be taken over time, to meet needs of every kind. What this spiritual path conveys is important and will increasingly find its justification with a great number of beings in need. In this, our action is fully justified. This world must change, and it will have to adapt to the necessities of life in all its forms. This path of Sahaj Marg has an important role to play in this divine scheme. Everything is taking its place as is fitting, according to the divine will whose action is inescapable. From time immemorial, human beings have adapted to the conditions imposed in this world; they will have to do so more and more for their survival and personal evolution.

May this end of the seminar bring peace and love upon this ashram, one that will become increasingly important. Very special blessings on this day, blessed for all.
