Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, June 7, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

Immerse yourself in us – here, where all is forgotten of the heaviness of a world that is turbulent and incoherent in many respects. Peace is within you, in this sacred refuge where the best is accomplished. This introduction, one could say, facilitates this contact; each day it is so. The practice of Sahaj Marg leads to a profound meditation capable of producing a very special vibration at the level of relevant 'points', those that are highly sensitive with respect to the advancement of the seeker. The mystery of the human being at this level remains the same; this hidden side keeps its secrets well, and that is not about to change. In each person there is excellence, the culmination of every such quest of this kind when the abhyasi truly commits. Going too deeply into this would not help the seeker any further; better to stay within reasonable limits for the understanding of all.

Surrender, love – that love, of course – are the strong points of this mystical epic, unprecedented in the current era. What is accessible to human beings and necessary for their evolution reveals itself gradually to the abhyasi. The determination of each person to progress allows him or her to cross the stages, those that cannot be measured in human terms but that transform the being at the subtlest level. Here, everything is accomplished in silence; The interiorisation produced by this meditation is capable of leading abhyasis to the best of themselves. Perseverance reveals what must be for each one's advancement, and our ceaseless action generates the rest – namely, the elevation of the soul in this unique place where the Divine awaits it, under our blessings.
