Whispers from The Brighter World

Following a spiritual path like Sahaj Marg creates bonds – recognised or not, they exist beyond materiality. A special vibration links beings together on this uncommon way. The importance of their commitment is crucial in an incarnation that is, in a certain way, decisive in this era of transition. Great and beautiful souls unite, both here below and well beyond, to help human beings in distress; there is no lack of them, and for many reasons. Suffering can take different forms. We cannot resolve everything; the divine laws are very strict with regard to this aspect of an incarnation. Each incarnation brings what is necessary for the evolution of the being, who comes to this Earth to perfect a journey – sometimes undertaken a very long time ago – and to play the role assigned to him or her, for a very specific purpose.

Nothing on Earth happens without reason. The reasons are numerous and essential to each person's journey. Some situations arise again from life to life, and some individuals come back to perfect what they are to achieve in the long term. Everything in this area seems mysterious, and yet everything is actually so simple. Acceptance, surrender – by whatever name one gives it – is important. Being one of the links in an endless chain is not a trivial matter. Doesn't everything have its raison d'être! The divine laws operate within a specific framework, with rigour and absolute precision; the workings of life are surprising, viewed as a whole. May everyone realise the importance of their actions and remedy that which can hinder this journey towards the ultimate goal, one towards which all existing good converges to strengthen its power of action.
