Each person is advancing in his or her own manner; when the call of the heart is there, one's entire way of seeing things changes and life takes on a whole new meaning. The aspirant receives according to his or her call. Sometimes after several years of practice one realises the progress made and becomes even more committed. Nothing can be forced. What matters is to start, then grace enters and accomplishes what must be done for the evolution of the aspirant. We follow and support each one, in our own manner. The Mission forms a coherent whole in its action, and the ensuing results are very convincing. This world is going adrift in certain respects; many human beings have no reference point – without setting any objective, they search in vain for a real reason to exist in this world.

Our method is more active than it seems; grand rituals are not necessary here. Important gatherings take place for specific occasions, including the birth anniversaries of each of the Masters of this Mission. That of our dear, great Parthasarathi is approaching; he has given so much of himself to this Mission and to each of our brothers and sisters, that a special tribute will soon be given to him. That day will be special for all our brothers and sisters, and also for him – ever present, as we all are, and sensitive to the welfare of this fully expanding way of the heart. Following it never ceases to motivate us, and one could say that this is just beginning.

To all our brothers and sisters, we wish the best possible in their fulfilment of this particular path.

Endless blessings to all.
