Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, August 11, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

Waves of love emerge from our united hearts, and they grace this entire Sahaj Marg Mission, where so many of our aspirants are in need. A call never leaves us indifferent; we operate in our own manner – not always as the abhyasi would wish, but for the good, you can be sure. An incarnation is a sensitive thread that connects the being to his or her own reality existing elsewhere, on other planes of consciousness. All these subtleties remain unknown to human beings, many seeing only their current and transient existence, not even imagining other planes of consciousness where they exist differently. We can only allude to this aspect of life, without going further; these notions are still unknown to a majority of people.

Evolution proceeds very slowly on this Earth. We cannot force anything globally, but the advancement of our abhyasis is our responsibility. In this, the call of the heart is essential – nothing can be forced; when a soul opens up to the higher reality, it makes us happy. Many beings arrive here under the vigilance of the alliance of united Masters, in accordance with a personal request; they carry on their spiritual journey that began on Earth, in order to go further by complying with other laws. All, whether incarnate or not, are followed and supported in their deepest aspirations. Engaging in this way of Sahaj Marg is not a trivial matter; it demonstrates a real desire to move forward, to reach another level of consciousness where other doors open onto the higher reality, under our blessings.
