Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, August 30, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

Nothing is done without reasons in our Mission. They are not always obvious to all, but who can assess them better than we? Nothing is perfect here below, otherwise where would our action lie and what would be our objective. This world of illusions is disconcerting in more ways than one. How can one truly focus on what is essential without a method, a suitable means of finding within oneself the emergence of a redeeming energy, one that paves the way for an active and liberating spirituality. It takes quite some time to understand and feel within oneself this aspiration for the Divine. It is more noticeable in certain beings, very early on in an incarnation, according to each one's journey. Coming to Sahaj Marg denotes a knowledge on the part of the seeker, an asset coming from another life. All this is a matter of mystery, but we cannot go too far down this road; in the current era limits are still imposed. Let us advance slowly but surely on this promising path where our action is bearing fruit.

May the best prevail on Earth and foster the winning of hearts under our endless blessings.
