Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, September 9, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

Sahaj Marg has become a vast movement whose importance will be confirmed over time; it is evolving in various aspects of its practice to better adapt to diverse needs. The current Master at the helm of this very large ship is not only guided but also possesses remarkable personal resources, allowing him to face up to things as he must. He is supported by the entire Hierarchy, which approves all these necessary changes. That is how it is, one might say.

May this Mission grow ever more, for the good of all. It is not always easy to bring together and convince all elements of a large family on the need to bring about such a transformation, and yet it is necessary to adapt in order to make better progress and work towards the good of this Sahaj Marg Mission which is so dear to us.

May none lose sight of the objective of this way of the heart, unique among its kind. Blessings to all.
