Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, November 1, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

Let yourself be carried away on the wings of love, where everything is forgotten: the hassles, the sufferings that burden a life. Nothing happens without reason; it is not easy to understand this. The human being is continually confronted with unpleasant and sometimes very serious situations, and it is not always easy to cope. The practice of Sahaj Marg helps one understand situations in a different way. Our brothers and sisters who are committed and fervent surrender more easily to the laws of destiny. They have a better understanding of the need to undergo such and such a test to ultimately benefit from it. Admitting the facts is not easy; karmic laws are unavoidable. How could a human being understand them; it cannot be. The most evolved beings are caught in the same process and under no circumstances are they spared. This is discouraging, you may all think – hence the need for surrender underlying any spiritual approach. It does take time for a seeker to accept all these principles that cannot be changed. The practice of Sahaj Marg is rewarding in many ways. It saves precious time and, while it cannot be assessed, everyone benefits from its real and effective action, done according to our wishes.

May the best take place in this world and change it in its most negative aspects. Special blessings to all.
