Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, November 26, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

You know the refuge – it is there, always offered to an ardent heart that never fails to call upon it. That very special inner presence lies there, immutable and sure. It is the greatest asset of the human being, who most often ignores it. Will we be able to convince all our brothers and sisters of the importance of this connection with the spiritual Master, the Divine that inspires him and all the forces that unite to support this great spiritual movement – one that is suited to the current era? It will have a significant place over time. It started modestly, to then gradually take on all the place needed for a very special action aimed at helping our aspirants during these very difficult times. Energies are disturbed, and this has repercussions on human beings, endangering an overall balance. Following a spiritual path, a regular practice, enables to some extent the restoration of what must be re-established. Humanity is suffering. Progress does not solve everything – it also has its drawbacks. Here, we are placed beyond the material plane, and each one's progress is of particular importance to us. This path has come into being for that purpose: to bring another aspect to spirituality, with simplicity and ease for all beings who aspire for the Divine. Such a demand exists and is not being met. Let us work unceasingly for the good of all, preparing a future that is more enticing in every respect.

May all be enlightened and won over. Blessings.
