Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, January 14, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Is an incarnate spiritual Master really aware of his power of action at a very subtle level? It does not appear so, and that is as it should be. He works along these lines with the abilities given to him for the general good of the aspirants engaged in this process – one that reveals aptitudes unsuspected by the abhyasis themselves. This spiritual way is preparing, among other things, the future of a world more sensitive to a higher reality than it is today. Big changes will occur, and they will shed a different light on this fact. Advancing in the discovery of what determines life on this Earth and well beyond, will open new horizons to people who are capable of approaching true knowledge – one whose reality is still unknown today. Divine laws operate for the best here below and elsewhere, where cohesion must prevail for the general good. Tomorrow will be different; this world is already preparing itself in compliance with divine laws and their requirements. Everything has its raison d'être. Surrender and trust foster human evolution, which is slowly unfolding as expected in order to bring about a better world more in line with the divine plans.

May all our abhyasis become aware of this fact and contribute to it in their own way. The practice of Sahaj Marg facilitates their growth, and we are seeing its very satisfactory results. Such is the higher will. Blessings to all.
