Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, February 10, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

A special energy emanates from these messages; many of our abhyasis feel it. Why would we have given so many of them if they were not special. They will remain the only ones of their kind, you can be sure of that.

The journey of every human being must adapt to the laws of this world. Karma is inescapable; it is often referred to in Sahaj Marg for the very reason that it is decisive in many respects. Each incarnation provides the experience human beings need to go through for their personal elevation.

The laws that govern humanity are very complex, hence the need for surrender on this initiatory journey when it is chosen as such by the seeker. Our abhyasis receive a basic teaching, one could say, and some of our books cover subtle aspects that can help them in this quest for the Divine. It is not always easy to integrate oneself into such a system; beyond the rules defining the various aspects of the method, the human dimension must be considered. Our way does not impose a way of thinking, it offers a method and a few rules to follow in order to adapt to this path of the heart and mind, which is capable of producing beautiful results. You yourselves are able to assess this; the incarnate Master and the entire Hierarchy can do it, hence our constant action. We are encouraged by the benefits resulting from this continual work.

To all, peace and fervour in this uncommon action that offers the best, under our blessings.
