Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, June 8, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Human nature is very complex; so many important elements determine the life of the human being. Each incarnation brings a complementary touch to what already exists.

Although the principle of reincarnation is still far from being acknowledged by all, the fact is there, inescapable in the life of each one.

It manifests the action of the Divine in its fundamental principles. The divine laws cannot be questioned, hence the need for acceptance concerning the destiny of each living being in this world. Human beings build their lives as best they can; not everyone has the same mode of action, privileges or trials.

In this regard, no one is spared; the divine laws are very rigorous and cannot in any way submit to the will of each individual.

Realising the need to follow a spiritual way shows a certain wisdom; reaching the strong point, the highest level of this quest, is a very precious asset. Everything aligned with it consolidates this edifice on its sacred foundations. How many lives will be needed to achieve this level? The main thing is to become aware of this necessity and do one's best to achieve the goal. Commitment of the heart is important; in it lies 'the reality of the being', which contributes to one's elevation and capacity to unite with the Divine. Our dear abhyasis are supported and guided according to their call, and no one is forgotten.

Blessings to all.
