Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, September 2, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Regain within yourself this state of peace and harmony, beyond these noisy disturbances, to better commune with the divine source that generates these daily writings. They are a rare blessing for our Mission; time will highlight their full importance.

It has always been so in the past – what is divinely inspired withstands time and takes on an importance that was initially unimaginable. Following a spiritual way, while being as committed as possible, gives life its full meaning. What would life be without other perspectives – beyond present ones – perspectives that give a glimpse of a possible and beneficial continuation of a course unknown in advance to the person concerned, and yet long-planned. From one lifetime to another, a programme unfolds that is decisive in each person's evolution; reincarnation allows for a progression, the building up of the best, carried by many experiences, some of which can be very painful. Here lie the Karmic laws, so mysterious for human beings; they turn the pages of a book where everything is written and long foreseen. Such are the laws of life. The divine power is irrevocable at this level. The cycle of life will always guard its secrets. This is how it is. It is up to each one to make the best of it and to do their utmost.
