Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, September 28, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Birth anniversary of Kamlesh.

Our beloved and Chosen son will leave his mark on this Mission in more ways than one; time will reveal its benefits. His current withdrawal was, in a certain way, desired. The divine laws are incomprehensible for human beings, and more importantly, unavoidable, whatever they may do. What appears to be negative can generate the best in certain circumstances, when such is necessary for the overall evolution of a particular situation or, quite simply, to illuminate the path of each of our faithful abhyasis.

We are very attentive to this Mission; the currently vested Master is attended to and supported, much more than it would seem. Such are the divine laws, for the good of all. Beyond appearances exists a reality, one that guides us every day to perfect what already exists and take it to its highest point. May this special day deeply touch hearts and allow them to achieve real progress – under our very special blessings, you can all be sure of it. This is how it is.
