Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, November 11, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Your heart, in contact with ours, vibrates with love; it benefits from an extraordinary transmission. Words in these messages carry a special energy. Sensitive beings can feel it, and they benefit from its action, as do all our abhyasis who wish to read them.

Nothing should be neglected in this Mission where everything is intended for the general good. The future will reveal certain aspects of this that are still unknown today. We must follow a logical order and adapt ourselves to circumstances without going beyond what can be revealed.

Humanity is struggling to make real progress – spirituality is not its priority. Everything will come in due course as part of large-scale changes that will take place on this planet.

A planned evolution will come to pass, for the good of humankind. This world is in distress, which is not new, and it is high time for humans to attain knowledge, true knowledge, one that will open minds to the higher reality. To cover up these comments would not be wise; our Mission is carried by faith, love and the 'reality' of an irreversible evolutionary current. So it is, shall we say. May the best be established in this world, for the general good.
