Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, November 20, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Regain the serenity necessary for this taking down of the messages. Let yourself be carried by the powerful flow of our love; your love allows for this feat – an impressive number of messages accumulated over the years. Such surrender carried by love is not commonplace, why not highlight it once more. This celestial manna will mark our Mission, and this for a very long time.

We are working to help our brothers and sisters in many ways; whether visible or not, these ways manifest themselves without weakening and for good reason. So many aspects are to be considered in such an approach. Our words are meant to nourish hearts with a special transmission supported by texts that are certainly repetitive but necessary for the evolution of each person on this uncommon journey. The apparent simplicity of Sahaj Marg hides well its many positive aspects. A day will come when they will be revealed to the eyes of humans. The time of enlightenment is not for tomorrow, but it is being prepared and we are working towards it.

So it is. Blessings to all.
