Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, November 22, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

Let this 'Love song' remain in your heart and not weaken; such songs are the most beautiful, and time keeps them in memory for good reasons. Here, joy and Love complement each other. We love to hear it, as so many complaints rise towards us – complaints that we cannot appease as we would like to. This world is not an idyllic place – far from it. It corresponds to cosmic requirements whose laws are completely beyond current human knowledge. We are preparing a future that is more in line with the evolution that will characterise the world. Everything is coming together very slowly on this Earth; it is advancing at the pace intended and necessary in order to facilitate what will follow. Cleaning and purifying are essential; this world is becoming mired in an unprecedented magma of negativity. One day, everything will resume its place according to the standards required for a long-awaited and planned evolution. The saying goes that 'what is to be will be'.

The Sahaj Marg way works accordingly in its own manner, sowing in hearts this little seed, a particle of peace and love capable of promoting an expansion of consciousness in the many hearts that thirst for the Divine.

This fact is unprecedented, and for that purpose everything will fall into place at the right time. It is not easy to imagine this future. The divine power will provide for it, in due course. So it is.
