Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, November 24, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

This is a sacred space, as we like to say. Repetition is necessary, the human being needs it in order to develop on all levels. A perfect human being is far from existing; such a being is envisioned but in very limited numbers, to see how they evolve and react in the face of the incessant difficulties of this world. Alas, we do not have the power to change everything or, in particular, to lead human beings to a very high level of consciousness. Our work and research in general are moving in this direction – the Sahaj Marg way contributes to this in its own manner. Nothing is to be neglected in this grandiose project that will surely see the light of day. Humanity has already made such progress since this world began; from the Stone Age, to arrive where it is today is still a masterful advance.

Nothing is ever simple, humans of today are very spoiled. They believe that everything can be resolved by a 'click' on the computer of their dreams. Things are a little more complicated than that; planet Earth is not the best positioned, but it is at a very satisfactory level, you can be sure. An unprecedented progress is in the making – Sahaj Marg is contributing to it in its own manner, as intended by the higher power that governs the universe. This is how it is. Special blessings to all.
