Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, December 4, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

These seminars are very important; they not only bring together a number of abhyasis, but also call for our respective actions, for the general good. We would like to emphasise this fact that these days are necessary, so very necessary for the cohesion of the group and the good of each of the participants. All this is to be considered and not ignored. Sahaj Marg is making its way; it will continue to touch hearts and open for them a sacred space where the best can be achieved. The cleaning practice is important; it leaves more space for the action of transmission as it exists in our path. This is not common; what is accomplished here cannot really be explained, yet it is oh so effective. We rejoice to see the good that has been accomplished through years of perseverance, for all our practitioners.

Nothing is trivial in such an approach. The good that is gained is precious; it endures beyond time and reappears from life to life, constituting the characteristic elements of Karma. Everything is counted and retained for the best in each one's life.

Special blessings to all.
