Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, December 11, 2016 – 10 :00 a.m.

It is good to see Sahaj Marg spreading in so many countries; the visit of this brother from Morocco has delighted your heart and rekindled in you beautiful memories of the past. Each of our abhyasis assimilates in their own manner what we provide them through this spiritual path of Sahaj Marg, whose effects are not common. They cannot be detected easily, but they are there, you can be sure. The subtle bodies are both connected to and dissociated from matter; they exist and are transformed according to the profound aspiration of the seeker. Here, in Sahaj Marg, an expansion of consciousness fosters and quenches this thirst for the Divine. It responds to the calls of an ardent soul pursuing this quest for the sacred, the ultimate goal of every human being. Whether conscious of this possibility or not, sooner or later one awakens to this reality and advances in this direction. A time will come when a major change takes place at this level; the future will offer perspectives never before attained, for the whole of humanity. These messages, in their own way, transmit a subtle energy that is undetectable by human beings. The world of matter does not facilitate an expansion of consciousness; only a deep, personal and persistent call can transform a life and bring it to the highest level of its realisation. Sahaj Marg contributes to this; faith in our action and love can accomplish what is humanly unimaginable.

Special blessings to all.
